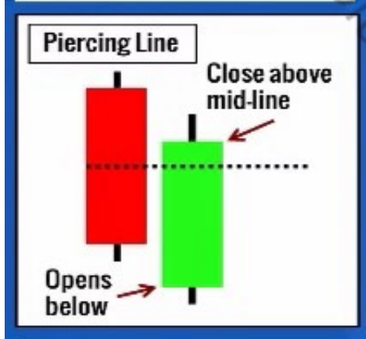
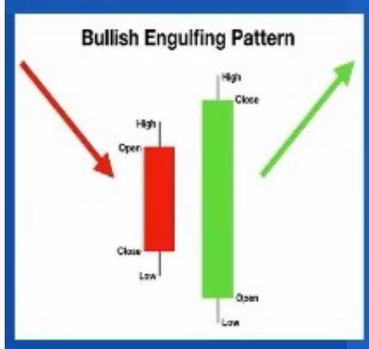
Hammer

This bullish candlestick pattern is formed when the open and close prices are almost the same. This pattern should consist of a lower shadow which is twice as long as the real body.



The Piercing Pattern

A piercing pattern is a candlestick pattern that gives us potential bullish reversal signs and it is formed near the support levels at the end of a downtrend.



Bullish Engulfing

This pattern indicates a reversal from downtrend as more buyers enter the market and move the prices up after a long downtrend,

The Morning Star

The morning Star is a triple candlestick pattern which indicates a bullish reversal. As it is formed at the end of a downtrend it gives us a warning sign that the downtrend is going to reverse to an uptrend.

The Three White Soldiers

The three white soldiers pattern is a bullish candlestick pattern occurring at the end of a downtrend and indicating a bullish reversal. This pattern consists of three long bullish candlesticks which are green in color and do not have long shadows.
